Dear Colleagues,

The 2020 FOCIS Annual Meeting marks the 20th Anniversary of the Federation of Clinical Immunology Societies.

From the introduction of monoclonal antibodies in clinical practice -- to recent advances in cancer immunotherapy -- the past two decades have been transformational for patients living with immune-mediated diseases.

All along the way, FOCIS has served as a forum to unite thought leaders throughout the immunology community to share cutting-edge research across traditional disease borders. As we look ahead to the next twenty years, FOCIS will continue to serve as the leading forum that brings together diverse translational immunologists to facilitate research innovations and cross-disciplinary networking opportunities that cannot be found at any other meeting.

FOCIS has deeply valued the steadfast support from our industry partners over the years, and we invite you to join us in San Francisco June 23-26 as we celebrate our past and chart the course for future discoveries and innovations in translational immunology.

In this brochure, you will find many ways to participate that will boost visibility, educate, and provide return on your investment. See what FOCIS has in store for you in 2020!

starting at $2,500

This day-long course is aimed at scientists involved or interested in the use of multi-dimensional data generated by modern genomics and proteomics technologies such as mass/flow cytometry, next-generation sequencing and microarrays and that feel a need to get a better basic understanding of modern statistical and mathematical concepts necessary for their analysis and interpretation.

Cancer Immunity and Immunotherapy
$5,000

Co-organized by SITC and FOCIS, the course will review tumor immunology as the scientific foundation for the current practice of cancer immunotherapy, emphasizing fundamental principles, clinical advances, limitations, and opportunities to accelerate clinical progress.

Advanced Course in Basic & Clinical Immunology
starting at $2,500

This unique two and a half-day course is held each spring and features world-renowned leaders in immunology speaking on the major topics in cellular and molecular immunology, including innate immunity, B cells, T cells, and cytokines. Special sessions cover new advances in interventional clinical immunology and the molecular and genetic basis of immune-mediated diseases. Students in this course include clinical fellows, trainees in the pharmaceutical industry, and practicing academic physicians who find the need to enhance their understanding of immunology. Students have ample opportunity to interact with each other and the faculty outside the lecture room.
